The building itself is two storey. The ground floor houses the tavern, caf?, and bar. There is seating for 50 guests. The pool table and dart board for entertainment and the large open fireplace are inviting features for those cold winter days. There is ample storage room behind the bar area and the kitchen has two large storage rooms for produce.

The second floor is the owner's residence. There are two separate living areas with the first being a (6 square) two-bedroom unit. The newly renovated area has a bathroom and a large living area. It has been plastered and freshly painted. The unit has a separate entry and is currently be
