Established, steady, profitable aviation training/entertainment flights business

Phone enquiries - please quote property ID 27106.

This well-established business, operating since 2010 (2016 with current owners), is seeking new ownership from an ex-aviation professional looking for a change of scenery and taking up a new challenge. The business offers a variety of options to both professionals and the general public, including pilot training, entertainment flights, fear of flying courses, and corporate events, and returns a steady and high profit.

The current co-owner is a professional pilot and former airline captain with extensive experience in airline flying and training and is looking for a new partner to replace the existing co-owner and take on the other 50% of this fantastic enterprise. This opportunity would be ideal for someone in aviation looking for a new endeavour or an active retirement from the profession.

The business is operated as a franchise, and has amazing support from the franchisor, allowing an easy and smooth operation of the business. Free training for the business for the new owner(s) will also be included, to ensure a smooth transition.
